THE REALITY OF DEATH AND THE HOLY ROSARY

One thing we can do to unleash the power of the Resurrection in our lives is to keep death in mind.

A consumer society, like ours, wants to cut us off from thinking about death and eternal life. That way we will be more likely to buy toys that entertain and distract us now.

But the Church has always encouraged us to keep death in mind, because it helps us to recognize temptations for what they really are, and to resist them courageously. But how can we keep death in mind without becoming morbid and depressed?

God doesn't want us to mope around all the time. He wants us to live life to the full, just as he did and all the saints have done. One easy and effective way to avoid falling into the consumer society's short-sightedness is simply to pray the Rosary every day. And if you can't pray all of it, just pray a part of it.

The Rosary helps keep the bigger picture in mind in two ways.

First, it uses the two beautiful prayers of the Our Father and the Hail Mary. The Our Father directs our hearts to heaven, and even mentions heaven. The Hail Mary reminds us that we will not live forever by ending with the phrase, "pray for us sinners, now and at the hour of our death."

Second, the Rosary combines those prayers with a meditative reflection, in Mary's presence, on all the events in Christ's life - from his birth through his resurrection.

Every week, therefore, it takes us on a complete tour of the bigger picture. It is no wonder, then, that it was the favorite prayer of Pope John Paul II, the most courageous of popes.

Let's make it one of our favorites too.

MISAN ANIMAS
(Mass for the Dead)

MISAN EMBIDA
(Mass for the Living)

Other Intentions

ANIMAS INTENTIONS

Due to the numerous Animas Intentions submitted for November, the names will not be printed here or announced prior to the Mass, with the exception of recent deaths, 1st year death anniversaries, and birthday memorials.

Rather, these names are contained in a special Memorial binder that is enshrined at the Altar and remembrance of them and all the faithful departed are being offered at all Masses throughout the month.

Thank you for your kind understanding.

1st Year Death Anniversary for Predisvinda Marty Minas
